

Dig Into Silvopasture, Soil Health & More At Sfa's 'Dirt Rich' In Becker

Submitted Article | 83 | August 2nd, 2019 @ 1:51 pm

Learn the principles of silvopasture, oak savanna restoration, grazing management, and how these techniques can boost your farm profitability at the Sustainable Farming Association's "Dirt Rich: Building Soil Health Experts" Sept. 18 in Becker.

This event, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wed., Sept. 18, at Tom Barthel and Gail Wilkinson's Snake River Farm (above), 18251 62nd Street, will showcase a diverse grass-based farm that produces bison, beef cattle, and pastured pork and poultry.

Attendees will dig deep into these innovative soil-focused topics and how they work to build farm profitability and resilience, benefit wildlife and boost water quality. Expert speakers include Barthel & Wilkinson; Kent Solberg, SFA livestock & grazing specialist; Diomy Zamora, Extension Educator; and Gary Wyatt, Extension Educator.

Cost is $25 for SFA members/$35 nonmembers; registration includes lunch, coffee and all materials.
