

A few of the flowers that grow on our farm.

Hundreds of flowering plants (forbs) grow on the farm.

Every season has its own flowers.

Each plant species needs the right habitat to prosper.

Some forbs grow in the sunny, open prairies and grasslands.

Others in the partial shade of the savanna, some in the shady woodland.

Others in the sunny wet meadows and others in the shady wetlands.

I have selected a few examples of summer flowers from our farm.

There are so many more beautiful flowers.

I wish there were time and space to show them all.

Butterfly Weed. A variety of the Milk Weed family a flower o dry uplands.

Purple Fringed Orchid. Prefers rich lowland and partial shade.
